Each summer we do two sets of One-on-Ones, the oldest of all the Project’s theatrical mentorship formats. The July set took 10 kids and their adult partners to beautiful Block Island for a solid week of rehearsing, eating, and splashing in the waves. After running everyone thoroughly ragged, we returned and staged the shows at the Five Angels Theater. On this page and the next are some glimpses of the performances on July 22-24.

The Design and Tech Team

- Lara De Bruijn: Costume Designer
- Josh Langman: Lighting Designer
- Vanessa Valdes: Goddess of Sound
- Charles M. Turner: Stage Manager

The BI Hosts

Carl Kauffmann (main house host), Allison and Michael Anderson; Kate and Sam Bird; Katy Homans and Patterson Sims; Susan Matheke and Willie Feuer; Amy and Elliot Nerenberg; Gladys and Bill Phillips; Susan and Ray Torrey; Virginia Dare.

In Charly Evon Simpson’s play To Be an Alien Body Builder, Faisal Afridi was an unrelenting examiner, Jayleen Velez was the caring mentor, and Charly herself was the would-be “ABB.” At dress rehearsal, when this photo was taken, Charly’s part was played by our own Natalie Hirsch. Charly can be seen in the inset photo.

Beyoncé Thomas got a chance to get back at a bully (Lucy DeVito) with a pair of scary rubber mitts in Revenge of the Monster Hands by Holly Hepp-Galvan.

Warrior Code, by Anne Troup, featured Angel Mendoza as a baby dragon and Anne as a knight in shining fabric.

The Block Island One-On-Ones

July, 2016

In Keep Calm and Snapchat Me, Selena Sanchez was a girl whose older sister (Stephanie Jean Lane) went to war. Stephanie also wrote the piece.

Gage Simmons and Sebastian Arroyo were Extreme Surfing, Skydiving Rock Stars Who Are Also Art Thieves in Jeff Cox’s play of that name.
Gabriel Acevedo’s character convinced his friend (Jose Gamo) to go to Pirate-Con, but inexplicably chose a shark costume for the event. Intern Holly Gibbs was a buccaneer emcee in Jose’s Walking the Plank.

Emmanuel Goicuria was a retiring principal suddenly forced to deal with a pyromaniacal student (Max Posner). Max’s play Retirement ended on a wistful note when the characters ran into each other years later in a supermarket on Mars.

Ka-Ling Cheung was an old-school Dental Pixie and Darby O’Donnell a fashionable Tooth Fairy competing for the choppers of a sleeping girl (intern Ian Edlund) in Molar Opposites, penned by Tahnee Cadrez.

Kraken Wise, by John Sheehy, cast young Andres Mendoza as a hero called the Kraken, and John himself as Chaz, a scientist who accidentally turns his own hands into giant lobster claws.

No sooner were the Block Island One-on-Ones done than we whisked 10 totally different kids to Wareham, Mass. (the Gateway to Cape Cod), to do 10 totally different plays. Everyone had a blast on the trip and all 10 plays were staged at The Five Angels Theater, Aug. 19-21.

CLOTHES LINES: PLAYS FROM THE COSTUME TRUNK
THE WAREHAM ONE-ON-ONES

Nathaniel Ortiz was a wealthy, bored magnate who wanted to escape his fortune and his ennui by walking away from them while Gardiner Comfort was the faithful manservant who tried to keep him on track. Patrick Link was the author of The Billionaire Birthday.
Magalis Fabian Viñas was a baby Roo being stalked by a mean Aussie bushranger and Arielle Goldman was the Tasmanian Tiger who helped her out in Arielle’s Two Brave Friends.

A selfish starlet (Haviland Atha-Simonton) and a humble cook (Thiana Goode) found themselves vying for the last spot in Paradise in Tahnee Cadrez’s At Heaven’s Gate. Holly Gibbs was the gatekeeper.

Rebecca Jimenez played the title role in The Star Spangled Jokester while Tina Chilip was her coach and confidant. Lynn Rosen wrote this play about a Borscht Belt comeback.

A selfish starlet (Haviland Atha-Simonton) and a humble cook (Thiana Goode) found themselves vying for the last spot in Paradise in Tahnee Cadrez’s At Heaven’s Gate. Holly Gibbs was the gatekeeper.

Jed Clarke’s The Dr. Mark Show cast Coleman Williams as a daytime TV shrink who helps people find themselves. Jed was the incorrigible convict that sought Coleman’s on-air assistance.

Marisol Miranda wrote and appeared in Magicia-nation for Yovely Ramirez. In it, Marisol played a girl coping with her resentment of the illness that afflicted her older sister.

Jose-Maria Aguila and Ethan Perez presented the longest, most exciting fight ever done in a One-on-One for their animal cop drama, The Beat. Jose-Maria wrote the play and choreographed the battle.

George Babiak was a melancholy sailor called Fred and Bryanna Ohene Kari Kari was the tyrannical Captain Amy. Together they sought the dreaded Crimson Cuttlefish in George’s A Thrilling Tale of the Sea.

Sam Lilja and Derek Rey were captive tigers desperate for freedom and John Sheehy was their cruel (and seemingly French) trainer in Cynthia Kaplan’s MoveOn.Tiger.

Lovely Ramirez (twin to Yovely, above) and Erin Felgar were diligent home scientists seeking the perfect formula for chocolate cookies. Sweet and Slow was written by Madeleine George.

REPRISE AND SHINE: THE THROWBACK PLAYS
THE 2016 PLAYBACK PRODUCTION

Just last month (October, 2016) we took 8 kids to Bridgehampton to rehearse plays they wrote to perform with adult partners. You saw them Oct. 21-23. If you DIDN'T see them, here are some photos.

THE DESIGN AND TECH TEAM
Ben Moss ................................................... Composer/Music Director
Greg MacPherson ......................................................... Lights
Siena Zoé Allen .................................................................. Costumes
Aiden Dreskin .................................................................. Sound
John Sheehy .............................................................. Stage Manager

HAMPTON HOSTS
Alex Gersten-Vassilaros, Cathy Dantchik, and Louis and Patrice Friedman.

Marchant Davis was an irreverent penguin and Ethan Zenteno a grieving polar bear in Ethan's The Cold Catastrophe.

Kaylee Zambrano’s The Secret Box had Kaylee and Grace Rex as troubled friends in 1950’s Louisiana.

In Jayla Alvarez’s Connect The Dots, Danaya Esperanza was raised as a ferret but came to realize that she was actually an adopted pit bull. Jayla was the guilt-ridden mother ferret.

Milen Tokarev gave us a deep glimpse into his perceptions of Canada in his play Fin. Milen was an elderly man secretly living in a kitchen cabinet belonging to a boy entrepreneur (Stephen Stocking) in the business of raising exploding skunks.

Amber Avant was a backpack and Rebecca Gomez was a fur coat in Rebecca’s Backpacking Through Sostco. They went through some changes, but finally ended up driving into the sunset in the backpack’s red convertible.

Crazy Miracles, by Sebastian Lopez, introduced us to an unscrupulous producer (Vichet Chum) all too ready to exploit the talents of DJ Loud (Sebastian) for personal profit. The gift of a private plane helped ease their tensions.

The Temple of Youth and Beauty, by Kiara Figueroa, cast Kerry Warren as an incredibly ugly blobfish and Kiara herself as a wizened, ancient goblin. Luckily, Kiara was able to remove her rubber mask before the play ended (see inset).

Aramis Jimenez was the Agent of the Universe, George Babiak was the captive Agent 23, and Garrett Kim was arch-villain War Keeper in Garrett’s thrill-a-minute spy drama, War, Inc.

We’ve been holding more and more mini-benefit parties for our Crew 52 members. The latest “Big Kids Bash,” took place on Wed., Nov. 9 at the Winery at the City Winery (Yep, the Winery has a Winery). A whole bunch of fully-grown children showed up to drink some tasty blended wines, scarf down some delicious hors d’oeuvres, and purchase some real and foam-core toys to raise money for our programs (we’ve still got some stuff in the toy box, if you’re interested). Here are some shots of the shindig:

- Raul Castillo and Frankie Alvarez did some speechifying for the crowd.
- LisaMarie F. Collins, Gregory Lullo, Shivani Poddar, Preeti Nath, and Navine Choksi.
- Samantha Cohen, Kristine Chau, Carolyn De Sena, and Richard DeSena.
Catherine Mueller Melwani and Dan Melwani have a new baby boy named Arjun George Melwani. He arrived on Friday, Oct. 28th and is as good-looking as his parents. Cat told us that Arjun means "white light" and George means "of the earth."

We just found out that Project alum Octavia Rodriguez got married to Paul Bionaz last year. Paul is in the military and they love to go hiking, climbing, and skiing in Seattle, where they live. In a few months, however, they will move to Italy for three years!

Richard Anthony, who is a big Project supporter, works at BGC Partners, and is a super fan of basketball and the New York Knicks, married Project volunteer and supporter Avigayil Taussig in September.

We’re very proud of Project volunteers Carly Mensch and Liz Fiahive, who are the creators and show-runners of the forthcoming Netflix show G.L.O.W. It’s about lady wrestlers in the 80’s!

On Oct. 19, Molly Coogan, a top Proj Vol as well as a pinch-hitting temporary staffer, won the Seeso Best Comedy award for episode 1 of her web series “Things I Hate.”

Jack Tapper was born on Sept. 8th, 2016 at 6:36 while the song “Hey Jude” played. His parents, Annaleigh Ashford and Joe Tapper, instantly fell in love with him.
What she does for us- Edie has been a volunteer with the Project since the Spring Playmaking show of 2001, in which she played the “bratty teenager” she mentions below.

Occupation- “I am an actress.”

Why she does what she does- “I do what I do because I am rarely as happy as I am when I am acting.”

Hobbies- “I love to sew and make crafty things.”

Last book read- “I just finished a book called Everybody’s Fool by Richard Russo.”

Most recent accomplishment- “My most recent accomplishment was reupholstering my couch.”

Best Project Memory- “My best 52nd Street Project memory is dancing as a bratty teenager in a play.”

Credo- “My credo is ‘Say what you mean. Mean what you say. Don’t say it mean’.”

Advice to kids - “Do what you love and it will bring you everything you’ll ever need.”

Place of birth- “I was born in Brooklyn, NY.”

Habitat- “My preferred habitat is by the ocean.”

Favorite thing about the Project- “Everything that goes into it and comes from it is good. There is no bad. It is a perfect idea perfectly realized. And I get to play a deer.”

On Flyer Bars- “Flyer bars have to be the most delicious treat on the planet.”
